Welcome

Welcome to the Cathedral Church of St Barnabas, the mother church of the Diocese of Nottingham and the seat of the Bishop of Nottingham. The Cathedral, a Grade II listed building, was opened in 1844 and is considered to be one of the best specimens of A.W.N. Pugin's work.

There has been a choir at the Cathedral Church since the time of its consecration. The first Director of Music, Edmund Hart-Turpin, who was also Organist of St Bride's Church, Fleet Street, and who went on to co-found the Royal College of Organists, was the first conductor of the Nottingham (Sacred) Harmonic Society Chorus (now the Nottingham Harmonic Choir).

A distinguished tradition of plainsong was maintained during the twentieth century, not least by Peter Smedley who reformed the boys' choir in 1955, directing an all-make choir, until 1979 when the choir once again became an adult ensemble. The introduction of Choral Scholars by Neil Page in 2003 transformed the capabilities of the main Cathedral Choir which has gone from strength to strength since.

Today, the Sunday choral services at the Cathedral are led by various choirs: the Cathedral Choir (a combination of auditioned local singers and Choral Scholars), the Parish Singers (unauditioned adults), the Cathedral Youth Choir, voluntary Music Group and the Choral Scholars.

For more information about joining one of our choirs, please get in touch with the Director of Music, Alex Patterson – alexpattersonmusic@gmail.com
